(Special to The Bulletin) Kailua, Kona, Oct. 19.-Out of five or six applicants for the post of road supervisor for Kona (two of whom of fered to take it without salary) the choice has at length gone to Mr. J. Ka elemakule of Kailua. The two candi dates evidently feeling that their own unaided backing would be superior to the endorsement of the electors of the district offered themselves on their own. The Board of Supervisors how ever, failing to see the merit of either, elected the Republican candidate, Mr. Kaelemakule. Each member of the County Supervisor's committee handed n a name from which list the whole board were to choose a road supervisor. Much to the surprise of his Demo ratic constituents, J. Frank Woods of he Kohalas, handed in the name of dr. Aungst, the Koun elephone manag er, a Republican, instead of the Demo cratic supporter, David Alawa. This urious action has aroused the wonder of the local Democrats mixed with ome mutterings of disapproval and disappointment. Mr. Heine is about to leave the Hackeld store at Kailua, where he has been ame firm's store.
